Astronaut Talks On Wednesday

NASA scientist-astronaut, William Edgar Thornton, M.D., is scheduled to lecture at Everhart Museum, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The appearance of Dr. Thornton marks the close of a year-long public service program sponsored by the Museum Association of Scranton, Inc., Jeffery Graham, chairman.

Dr. Thornton is currently engaged in space medicine and is completing intensive training in preparation for future NASA manned space flights.

While in Scranton, the astronaut will hold a seminar for local physicians and surgeons at the Community Medical Center and will also address the Kiwanis Club.

Mayor Eugene Peters will welcome Dr. Thornton at City Hall.
